Pro Bono Publico!
IF YOU LOVE YOUR COUNTRY, encourage Home Productions. Why will you send abroad for wretchedly spurious articles, when you can have the good and true and beautiful of Oregon material and Oregon workmanship close at your very doors! Other articles, too numerous to mention, either on hand or made to order.

The life-spring of trade, "READY CASH,"
No matter in which way we view it,
Enables us onward to dash,
And therefore we mean to stick to it.

No flag but the Old Flag—the Red, White and Blue,
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true!
Arise and defend it! ye sons of the brave,
Whose blood bought the banner your valor must save.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 16, 1863.

The Real Question.

The great issue forced by the rebellion upon the Nation is whether we have a Government or not—whether the Republic is a sham or a reality; it is not whether we shall support or destroy slavery, nor how we can build up or put down this or that political party. Such questions as the last are trifling in comparison with those first stated, and cannot justly occupy the minds of patriotic men, while rebels in arms defy the Government, or their sympathizers among us are laboring earnestly to give success to treason.

This great issue must be decided now, and by force, because it is made by force. It must be decided distinctly and emphatically in the sight of all the world, that rebellion and treason cannot and shall not triumph, but that they must be suppressed and punished. Any thing less than this will be vain and imbecile—any compromises or submission to the demands of the conspirators will bring absolute ruin to the Nation, and death to the hopes of liberty throughout the earth. The contest is vital to National existence, and it is not now possible to make it otherwise; there can be no plan of territorial division; there is no skill, or device, or sagacity, or diplomacy which can change its nature or modify its consequences, for successful rebellion must forever destroy the possibility, the very existence of Republican institutions. This is the question now forced upon us. If we fail, this Republic—all Republics are gone forever. It will be demonstrated that the people have no power of self-government. If this Republic fails, no other can ever successfully exist, for none can have more power, more resources, or more of the elements of national strength, and indeed who, if this fails, will ever want to see or take part in another?

Stripped of all minor considerations, this is the great, the vital question—shall Republican institutions be sustained? It is a solemn, a mighty issue. Upon its result, hangs the fate of freedom, of humanity; and those who are not faithful now, who talk of peace when there is no peace, save in submission to the lawful authority, are enemies of the Republic, of liberty and of mankind forever.

Another Strange Disclosure.—We hope nobody will charge us with mischievous intentions for copying from the Collector's paper the following narrative of the manner in which the last nomination for Congress was made. As it finds a place in the official organ, it is presumed to have some foundation. The names will be understood, without especial explanation:

"Then Ashel was exceeding wroth and sought to break up the council, when Benjamin, who is a very cunning man taketh Ashel from the council and sayeth unto him, privately: 'Suffer it to be so now, Ashel, (for thus it becometh us to fulfill our political corruption,) and let us do even more—let us give unto the Lincolnites one John whose surname is McBride, to go to the great Sanhedrim to represent this mighty land. This will appease the Lincolnites and win them over to our favor. And now, O Ashel, we consider John a very weak man and that he will be in our hands as clay in the hands of the potter; and as we have lied to, cheated, and deceived the Bushites so often, it is clear to my cunning mind that we must get new followers or we shall neither of us ever get into the great Sanhedrim. But once more in power we can throw off the Lincolnites and wed our first love again—even the Laneites.' Then Ashel said: 'Live forever, O Benjamin! for thou art exceeding wise, even above what is written, let us return quickly to the council and do all thou hast said.'

"And it came to pass that when the council had again come together that there were many voices calling for Thomas to represent them in the great Sanhedrim. Then Benjamin opened his mouth and spake unto the council, saying: 'Hear me O ye inhabitants of the mighty land of Web Foot, and harken unto my words. Behold the people of the great city have chosen one from their midst to be Chief Ruler, even Addison, and now do ye ask that Thomas, who also dwelleth in the great city, shall be chosen to represent the people in the great Sanhedrim? rather should ye choose John whose surname is McBride, he dwelleth near the middle city.' And the council reasoned together and said let it be as Benjamin hath said. So the council chose John whose surname was McBride, and sent him to the great Sanhedrim."

Dialogue.—Uncle Sam—Secesh—Copperhead.—Secesh—Stoop down here, Uncle!
Uncle Sam—What for, Secesh?
Secesh—I want to cut your throat!
Uncle Sam—Guess not. It don't want cutting.
Copperhead—Yes, stoop down, Uncle!
Uncle Sam—What! do you, too, want to cut my throat?
Copperhead—O, no—never! I wouldn't do such a thing for the world! I only want to hold your arms pinioned behind your back while Secesh cuts it. That's very different, you see!
Uncle Sam—No, I don't see it.—N. Y. Tribune.

There is a sharp lesson in this which we hope peace Democrats will understand, if indeed they have not already with full purpose arranged their plans to accomplish what the Secessionists design.

Quiet.—Our streets yesterday presented an unusually quiet appearance.

The Hour and the Man.—A strong man has come forth at a time and in a place where a strong man is needed! Andrew Johnson, the poor mechanic of North Carolina, the self-educated lawyer and statesman of Tennessee—a power among the people, because thoroughly identified in feeling, opinion, and aspiration, with the people—the conqueror of those "twin jailors of the daring heart, low birth and iron fortune"—the unflinching patriot amid a throng of temptations and a storm of perils—has determined to oppose the restoration of oligarchic control in his section of the Union. It is in accordance with the fitness of things that the decisive blow at the social and political supremacy of the Southern oligarchy should be dealt by a man who sprung from the class of non-slaveholders who have suffered from the continuance of the institution. It is peculiarly appropriate that the dignity of labor should be vindicated by one who has earned his bread by honest toil, who has been insulted by the airy arrogance of the idle "gentlemen" who were living upon the fruits of the drudging of others—who has ample opportunities to learn how radically hostile the plantation barons are to these democratic institutions which are the glory of the United States. Though always the champion of the common people—standing alone among Southern statesmen in support of the Homestead Law—Andrew Johnson, before the war, was so far influenced by the prejudices of his section and respect for the existing rights of property, as to defend the peculiar institution whenever called upon to do so. He supported Breckinridge for the Presidency and indorsed the Breckinridge platform; but the oligarchy never admitted him to their secret councils, and as soon as he became convinced that they were plotting the dissolution of the Union he cut loose from all political association with them and upheld the banner of the nation. In East Tennessee, where Johnson resided, and where his influence was paramount, secession had but few votaries, and the inflexible loyalty of the mountaineers was confirmed and stimulated to the pitch of heroism by his noble example. Driven from his home, his property confiscated, and his family insulted and persecuted, Johnson was unable to return to the State of which he had twice been elected Governor, until an army carried back the old flag. Since he has been acting as Military Governor of Tennessee, he has evidently become convinced that there is no safety or security for the men who have remained loyal throughout the conflict—no hope of speedily restoring the prosperity of the devastated State, but in the adoption of a measure which will strike down the great bone of contention—the institution which has educated them to hate free government, and which alone stands in the way of the immigration of free labor. The protracted contest of armies has simplified the work in Tennessee. The institution there is a mere wreck. Many thousands of the slaves have been driven into the Cotton States; thousands of others have been liberated by the march of our forces. The Nashville Union Club comprises eight hundred Union emancipationists, a number of whom are slaveholders. The sentiment of the loyal population is ripe for the decisive measure. The hour has come—and the man.—Sac. Union.

The Washington Territory Infantry.—Although the W. T. Infantry have never yet had an opportunity to render themselves immortal by deeds of blood and carnage, they are nevertheless all performing duty, and perhaps are not less willing to win the laurel wreath than any regiment of men who have responded to their country's call. The following shows the present location of the companies, staff, and officers:

How it was Discovered.—The following is the history of the discovery of Rockfellow's new quartz lode, on the Boise road, which has its interest, as all such things have. Two men (names not recollected) were going to Boise; one of them had never been in the mines and had never seen any quartz. As they were riding along he mentioned this fact, when his companion observing some pieces lying by the road side told him that was quartz, and they got off and picked up some of the pieces. After carrying them along some distance they found, upon close inspection, that they contained gold, and they took the pieces into Bannock City. On their arrival there their horses were stolen, and they left without means. They went into Rockfellow & Co.'s express office, and while there, exhibited their quartz specimens. Mr. R. examined the specimens, and purchased one of the men a horse and brought him back as a guide to show him where he found the quartz. On their arrival upon the ground they found more of it, and traced it to the lode without difficulty, some two miles up the hill side. A brief examination of the lode proved to them that, in miner's parlance, they had "found it," and the unfortunate, houseless, moneyless man who went into the express office two weeks ago with his quartz specimens, little dreaming of what was in store for him, is to-day the owner of an interest in probably one of the richest quartz lodes ever found on the Pacific coast—a mine of wealth equal to tens of thousands of dollars.—Walla Walla Statesman.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY OREGONIAN

LATER FROM THE EAST.

Dates to September 9.

Forts Wagner and Gregg taken.

New York, Sept 9.—Sterling, 45½. Gold closed 31¼.

The Tribune's dispatches from the Army of the Potomac of the 8th say: Col. Hill, of the rebel army, sent word across the Rappahannock from Fredericksburg that he would like to see an officer of our army. General Custer crossed and had a conversation with Colonel Hill, who remarked confidently that peace was near at hand. This assertion was also voluntarily made by two other rebel officers. No reason was given.

White's guerrillas are reported near Purcellsville, Lowden county. Moseley's forces have scattered since the wounding of Mosely.

New York, Sept. 9.—The transport City of Baltimore reports the siege of Wagner and Sumter progressing. The Ironsides and shore batteries were bombarding Wagner which had not replied for two days.

St. Paul, Sept. 9.—In a recent fight between some Salmon river miners and the Indians, the latter lost 30 killed.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, writing from Hayne's Bluff, says: On the night of the 25th August 38 negro soldiers murdered a peaceable family in cold blood.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Rosecrans' official report of the campaign in Middle Tennessee has been received. It embraces the operations which resulted in driving the rebels from their positions in that State. Our loss was 85 killed, 462 wounded and 13 missing. We captured several hundred small arms, three field pieces, six caissons, three rifled guns without carriages. Of Quartermaster's stores we took 85 tents and 35,000 sacks of corn. The total number of prisoners taken was 59 commissioned officers and 1,575 non-commissioned officers and privates.

Fortress Monroe, Sept 9th.—The Richmond Enquirer of the 8th has the following:

Charleston, Sept. 7.—Morris Island has been evacuated. The enemy (Federals) hold Cumming's Point, in full view of the city. Heavy firing is now going on between the batteries of Sullivan's Island, Fort Moultrie and the Monitors.

Charleston, Sept. 7.—The bombardment was kept up without intermission all day yesterday and far into the night. About 150 of our men were killed and wounded at Gregg and Wagner. An assault on Gregg was repulsed before the enemy had completed landing. Great havoc was supposed to have been made by our canister in the enemy's boats. At dark on Sunday the enemy ran their saps up to the very moat of Wagner and it being impossible to hold the Island any longer, Beauregard ordered it evacuated, which was executed with success. We spiked the guns of Wagner and Gregg, and withdrew in forty barges. Only one barge, with twelve men, captured. All quiet this morning.

Charleston, Sept 7th—12 m.—Dispatches from Gen. Scott, commanding Fort Sumter, announces that a flag of truce demanding the immediate surrender of that fort just received from Dahlgren. Beauregard telegraphed as reply to Dahlgren; "He could have Sumter when he took and held it; meantime such demands are contemptible." This morning at 6 o'clock the Ironsides and the monitors went close to Sumter as usual, and opened a hot fire on it. Our batteries on Sullivan's Island with Moultrie replied heavily.

Washington, Sept. 7.—The following is an official report from Gen. Gilmore:

Headquarters Department of the South—To Gen. Halleck: I have the honor to report that Fort Wagner and battery Gregg are ours. Last night our sappers crowned the crest of the counter carp of Wagner on its sea front, masking all its guns, and an order was issued to carry the place by assault at 9 o'clock this morning, that being the hour of low tide. At 10 o'clock last night the enemy commenced evacuating the Island; all but 75 made their escape from Cumming's Point in small boats. Captured dispatches show that fort was commanded by Col. Keitt, of South Carolina, and garrisoned by 14,000 men, and Gregg by between 100 and 200. Its bomb proof shelter capable of holding 1,800 men remains intact after the most terrible bombardment to which any work was ever subjected. We captured 19 pieces of artillery and a large supply of excellent ammunition.

The city and harbor of Charleston are now completely covered by my guns.

(Signed) Gilmore,
Brig. Gen. Commanding.

Washington, Sept. 10.—A telegram from Fortress Monroe to Halleck, says: When the steamer Nick left Charleston, on Thursday at eight o'clock P. M., the rebel flag was still flying over Sumter, but no guns were mounted; and only a small force there. Five monitors and the Ironsides had engaged batteries Beauregard and Bee for nine hours. During the bombardment a shell from one of the monitors exploded in the magazine of Moultrie, and the south-western parapet was seriously injured by the explosion.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The Democratic Convention nominated D. B. St. John for Secretary of State; Sanford Church, Comptroller; W. D. Chamberlain, Attorney General; W. B. Lewis, State Treasurer.

Note by Operator at Yreka to Oregon Editors.—Gentlemen: There is reference made in the first part of this report of a battle in Middle Tennessee of which we have no account. The line was down yesterday afternoon, and I got but one report. The account of that battle was probably in the report we did not get.

Rev. Dr. Tyng on the Rebellion.—Among the sermons preached in New York on Thanksgiving Day, that of Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, an Episcopal clergyman, was most remarkable. He made the following points:

"The subject treated was the contrast between man's vain system of expedients and God's system of grand progressive advancement. The climax of the struggle must soon be reached. Whatever crisis may come, whatever sacrifice it may require, the Government must be sustained until the end shall come. This contest is the grand struggle between liberty and slavery—between equality and the spirit of caste. It is not simply a contest about the black man; it is a conflict of opposing principles between liberty and the terrible system of slavery which for two hundred years has taxed the energies of this country. And now comes the grand question, What shall be done with a people who have shown themselves worthy of a better fate than slavery? Vainly again does man attempt to settle this question; and we look up to the great Jehovah, and believe that He will do it in His own time and way. We believe that He is hastening forward the day of universal emancipation. If we attempt to return to caste legislation, then the lesson of two hundred years will have been thrown away."

Dr. Tyng said he believed in the full social and political equality of the black man with the white, and the right to all the duties and privileges of citizenship. Give him a chance and let him settle the question for himself. Shall we, in the midst of the contest, cling to prejudices of caste, or shall we not rather cling to the grand, I will not say American, but human idea of the universal brotherhood of the race? This atrocious rebellion is a contest against labor—against poor white trash and poor black trash; between anarchy and law. It is not the question of a day or a generation, but one of ages of the world. There are only three ways in which this contest can be brought to an end. Firstly, the dismemberment of the Union; secondly, by compromise; thirdly, by subjugation. Rather than consent to the first or second, I would continue the struggle twenty years to-day. I would rather see the Union subjugated by the rebellion, and endeavor to liberate it by means of another revolution."

Money in Vicksburg.—A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune writes as follows of the financial state of things in the captured city. It tells a sorry story of the estimation in which Confederate scrip is held, and shows that a pretended Government which employs such a currency can have no great confidence in its resources, and indeed that its very resources are of not much more account than its miserable scrip:

"There is a great abundance of cash here—that is, something which was cash a month or so past. I have seen little boys with rolls or "wads"—to use an elegant Mississippi phrase—which would have suggested great wealth if they had been original, simon pure greenbacks. I was offered fifty dollars of the stuff, a day or two since, for a pair of pants. I surrendered the pants but did not take the money. When you talk to a native, and he tells you, as every one of them will, of the enormous prices he has paid for such and such articles, remind him that the number of dollars is no criterion as to the reasonableness of prices—that the nature of the money was taken into consideration—and he will retort by saying that his money was as good as anybody else's, was currency, and that for four dollars of paper he could get one of gold.

"How do your soldiers manage to keep on hand so much money?"

The native to whom I addressed this question answered:

"Oh the Government pays them."

"But eleven dollars a month will not go very far when whiskey is forty dollars a gallon."

"That's so; but when the pay runs out, their friends, fathers and mothers give the boys money."

"Yes; but how did the boys from Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee, whose friends reside outside the Confederate lines, get such great rolls of it?" I saw some of them with thousands of dollars.

"Well, I don't know. They played poker for it, I expect. There was plenty of money in the army, and any sharp fellow could manage to have all he wanted of it."

The inference is irresistible. Confederate scrip was only tolerated as a representative of value. It was kept moving from hand to hand, but nobody believed in it.

The speculators and contractors, who have gathered great hordes of Confederate money, are all leaving Vicksburg and taking their funds with them. They are also engaged, in a sly way, in buying up the depreciated stuff with property, the title to which is very doubtful, and thus the poorer people are getting about ten cents on the dollar for their money.

A good story is told of a steamboat captain who stopped with his boat at a wood yard coming down the river, and who thought to try the pretended loyalty of the owner of the yard by an offer of Confederate money, of which the boat had a good supply. "Will you take Confederate money for your wood?" shouted the captain to the man on shore. "Yes," was the laconic reply. The boat landed, was made fast, and a stage thrown out, when it occurred to the captain to inquire about the rate at which he was to pay. "What do you ask for wood now?" said he.

"What kind of money did you say you would pay in?" inquired the wood vender.

"Confederate."

"Well, then, I want cord for cord."

A roar from the passengers announced that the captain was sold as well as the wood. Yet I am not sure that the wood dealer placed too low an estimate on the Confederate promises to pay. How much is a cord of waste paper worth in the market?"

Gould and Curry.—Of all successful mining enterprises the Gould and Curry carries off the palm. The share-holders are more than satisfied. Money for investment cannot be better placed, excepting perhaps to procure an outfit from the well-known firm of Heuston, Hastings & Co., clothiers and tailors, of Montgomery street, corner of Sutter, San Francisco. One of their business suits is something that will give satisfaction to everybody.

For the Fair.—The "Mechanics' Brass Band," of this city, started for the Fair grounds yesterday morning, discoursing sweet music as they left the city. All the members however, did not go, some four or five waiting till to-morrow, when they will also start. We think this band will "wake up the snakes" in that neighborhood, whether they win the prize or not. Bring the horn back with you, boys.

Resumed her Trips.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt, after having been thoroughly repaired, has resumed her old route between this city and the Cascades.

Runaway.—A two-horse team took fright yesterday afternoon on Front street, and ran away. No damage done. People will leave horses standing unguarded, and horses will get frightened and run off. Cautioning teamsters about their carelessness in this matter is entirely useless.

Theatrical.—We regret to announce that there was no performance at the theatre last night, on account of the sudden and serious illness of Julia Dean Hayne, who was attacked just before the curtain was rung up to a large audience; and that the house will be closed till Saturday evening, as Dr. Glisan, her physician, says it will be impossible for her to appear before that time. All persons who hold tickets can call at the box office to-day and secure seats for Saturday night, or have their money refunded, as suits their convenience.

Pears.—Mr. J. H. Lambert, of Milwaukie, presented us yesterday with a basket of fine pears, of the Bartlett variety, and the largest and best flavored we have tasted this season. Mr. L. has the thanks of the whole office for his kind remembrance.

More Pears.—We had just fairly tested the quality of our first lot of pears, when Mr. Pearcy, of Sauvie's Island, brought in a sack full of very nice, sweet pears, of more than average size, for which he has our thanks. In order to keep fruit from spoiling in winter we eat it (all we can get) in the fall. This rule will be strictly adhered to.

The Mines of New Mexico—Gold and Silver Enough to Pay the National Debt.—We were pleased to meet our old friend, Dr. W. F. M. Arny, of New Mexico, who is in this city, and has with him an interesting cabinet of minerals illustrating the mineral and riches of New Mexico. During the past year he has visited every county in the Territory, and obtained specimens of the gold, silver, copper, lead and coal from every locality yet discovered, which he intends to deposit with the Commissioner of the General Land Office, in the Interior Department. He has several ounces of gold dust, very rich, washed out from the surface dirt at the "Placer mines," which are owned by a company, several of the members of which reside in this city. Also, a specimen from new discoveries made near Fort Stanton; another specimen of fine gold from the Rio Prieto, which he obtained from Lieutenant Martin, of the California Volunteers, who has been stationed on that river. Also, some fine specimens he obtained from Captain Joseph Walker, "the Mountaineer," who has for some time been engaged on the Gila river, and who reports the discoveries of rich gold deposits, and who says that thousands of miners could be employed on this river in gold washing if the Indians were removed. In the collection there are specimens of rich gold quartz from various localities in New Mexico; also, specimens of silver ore from Ogan Mountain, which will yield from one hundred and fifty to two hundred ounces of silver to the ton of ore, together with rich specimens of silver from the Cerrellos mines, near Santa Fe; also specimens from Pinos Altos; from large deposits lately discovered by Dr. Sturgeon, of the United States army, on the Gila and Rio Mimbres rivers. Several specimens of copper ore, some of which is almost pure, found near Pinos Altos in inexhaustible quantities.—These mines were worked profitably until the Indian invasion and the breaking out of the Indian troubles. The Governor has also several pieces of ancient pottery, specimens of which were exhumed by Dr. Sturgeon on the site of Fort West; and the pot from which the fragments were broken contained the charred remains of a human being. He has also specimens of agricultural products and Indian manufactures, among which are superior tobacco and wines from the grape of the country, which are abundant; a willow Indian basket; a Navajo Indian blanket, similar to those brought back from that country by Col. Doniphan in 1847; also other blankets, which show the good quality of the wool and cotton of that country. Cotton and sugar cane can be raised on the Gila river, of superior quality and in great abundance. The Gov. has been deeply interested in exploring and bringing to light the hidden and inexhaustible mineral treasures of the Territory of New Mexico, and he expresses the confident opinion that were the Indians removed, in two years labor gold and silver enough could be obtained to redeem all the treasury notes now in circulation, and as many more.

Health of the President.—The N. Y. Evening Post, Aug. 15, says:

"The President still resides at the Soldier's Home. Every evening at about six o'clock he can be seen leaving the Executive Mansion at the head of a mounted escort of fifteen or twenty soldiers. The cares and responsibilities of his office are obviously telling upon the health of the President. He looks thin and feeble, and his eyes have lost their humorous expression. His friends entertain much solicitude about his health, and have endeavored to persuade him to leave Washington to recuperate, but so far the pilot sticks to his helm, and does not seem disposed to leave it so long as he has strength to hold it."

Read what amount of Pain and Suffering can be saved by the use of DR. BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA.

KENNEDY'S CORNERS, Wayne Co., Ind., Oct. 3, 1857.

Messrs. A. L. Scovil & Co.—I write to let you know what BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA has done for me. Last January I was attacked with inflammatory Rheumatism, attended with great pain. I became bed-ridden and was helpless as a child. The pain was so great when I moved that it seemed as if it would take my very life. In this way I suffered for seven long weeks or more, and thought that I could never recover. I was recommended to try BAKER'S PAIN PANACEA, and did so. I took it internally, and had my feet rubbed freely with it as long as I could bear, several times a day. My pains began to give way under its influence, and I began to have strength and appetite, and am able to be about again. It has been a great blessing to me in relieving my sufferings. In Every Age of the World, the professions have been slow to admit the value of new discoveries, or the expediency of adopting them in practice. It is not to the legal profession that we look for reforms in jurisprudence, neither do we find the advocates of medical reform among physicians. Each deprecates whatever is found to innovate upon received opinions and established usage. Hence the opposition which medical men too often exhibit to the use of private remedies, whatever their acknowledged value, or great efficiency in the cure of disease. No medicine has ever done more for the relief of human suffering than DR. OSGOOD'S INDIA CHOLAGOGUE. The certainty with which it cures Fever and Ague, and eradicates bile from the system is acknowledged by all. Do you prefer a speedy and effectual cure to a regular and scientific run of disease? Try the Cholagogue, and the object is accomplished. Then tell your suffering neighbor what it has done for you, that it may do the same for him.

Curiosities of Exemption

The Philadelphia North American of August 14th gives the following interesting sketch of the curiosities of exemption:

The daily scenes at the offices of the Provost Marshal are extremely bizarre and interesting. The curiosities of human character are there exhibited in all their variety. The present business of the Marshals and their surgeons is the reception and examination of military substitutes, and of parties claiming exemption from the draft.

About seventy cases per day are disposed of by each Marshal. All have a busy time of it. At Captain Lehman's office, yesterday, we watched the process in its various forms. The experience here shows the fact that the two infirmities most common among men in cities are hemorrhoids (piles) and rupture in its various forms. On account of these two affections fully three-fourths of the applicants for exemption receive their discharge. Rupture is an affection that is in its very nature incurable. Its effects may be palliated, but a ruptured man could not possibly perform a soldier's duty. Very bad cases of hemorrhoids are equally disqualificatory for military service.

In examining substitutes the most rigid scrutiny is exercised. Many attempts at fraud are made. Men unfit for service sell themselves as substitutes, foolishly supposing themselves able to conceal their infirmities. They little know the ordeal through which they must pass. They entirely overlook the fact that a surgeon in five minutes can overhaul them as a watchmaker overhauls a watch. There is abundant attempt at fraud all around. Drafted men claim disqualification on the ground of disability, and men who want substitute money endeavor to conceal their ailments. Both call into practice the utmost skill of the surgeon making the examination.

The substitute, upon presenting himself for acceptance, is taken into a room where he disrobes himself. The surgeon begins with his teeth and examines his whole body down to his toes. The examination is even more searching than the examination of an applicant for a policy of insurance upon his life by a life insurance company's surgeon. If the front teeth are gone, so that a man cannot bite off a cartridge paper, he cannot be accepted for infantry service. He may do for a trooper. Every limb is examined. If the lungs are unsound, the temperament apoplectic, or the system wasting, the Government does not want the man, either as a volunteer, a conscript or a substitute.

The applicant is made to throw himself into various attitudes. His toes and fingers must be practically perfect. He is made to pick up a grain of corn from the ground without bending his knees, to stand upon the points of his toes, and to show that he is perfect in his anatomy. If he stands this test he is accepted, and a release is given to the man who brings him. The substitute then receives his money, and is taken into the custody of a guard. He is then a United States soldier for three years.

At Captain Lehman's office yesterday we saw some humorous incidents. A man about forty years of age came limping into the office. He wanted exemption.

"What ails your leg?" was the first question.

"Why it's stiff, that air leg is. It's been stiff nigh on two year."

"What makes it stiff?"

"Why, I reckon it's the rheumatis, Doctor. That leg ain't got no more joint in it than a crowbar."

"Well, we'll see. Step outside there, and we'll look at you."

"Oh, you needn't give yourselves no trouble. I kin jest roll up my trousers' leg right here."

"We don't do matters that way. Walk into that room. We want to see that leg. Perhaps we can cure it; we've performed some remarkable cures lately."

The man did not want to go into the room, but saw there was a guard at hand likely to enforce the order. So he went in. He stripped, exposing a very dirty hide to the sunlight. The doctor looked at the leg and formed his own conclusions. He asked the man more questions, and received positive answer that the limb was immovably stiffened, the result of rheumatism.

"You must take ether, my man. I can cure you of this stiffness," said the doctor.

"I reckon you hain't got no right to do nothin' of that kind," said the man. "I come here with a stiff leg. You can see I ain't fit for sojerin', no how, and you hain't got no right to pizen me either."

"We have the right to prevent sneaks and liars from evading the duty of every citizen, and we are going to test the truth of what you have been saying."

The man grew very ugly. The sponge of ether was applied, but he pushed it away. Five men were required at last to hold him down, but the ether was applied, and the man at last rendered insensible. To accomplish this required a full bottle of there. The surgeon was satisfied the man was shamming. About his leg there was not the least rigidity. It was in all respects perfect. When he came to consciousness the man was told that until his substitute was procured he was considered a conscript. He was exceedingly surprised that his deception was unmasked.

Another man followed him, who wished to be a substitute, upon whose limbs were big nodules, like spavins upon a horse. He was an Irishman. The doctor saw at a glance that he was unsound and dismissed him with a sharp reproof for his stupidity in presenting himself.

The next was a little man, who claimed to be ruptured. The removal of his clothing disclosed a truss with pads about as big as tea saucers, large enough to cover a first class rupture upon the Belgian giant. The doctor could find no sign of any rupture, but as a rupture sometimes descends or recedes, the man was told to sit down for a while. In half an hour, if it existed, it would be perceptible. The man sat down, in puris naturalibus, upon a chair, trembling like a leaf. But the rupture didn't show itself. The surgeon said that if he could bring a respectable certificate of rupture existing it should have due weight. The man left, saying he would get it. He appeared honest.

Out of about thirty whom we thus saw examined yesterday morning more than a dozen were badly ruptured, a fact which shows that dealers in trusses do a lively business. One fellow had voluntarily relinquished his front teeth to escape conscription. To his unutterable dismay, he was accepted for cavalry service. He was evidently a coward. When he found himself caught his knees smote together, and his face paled to the whiteness of the paper on which the surgeon wrote his name and condition. He was in splendid health. The gums from which the sound teeth had been violently drawn had not yet receded into position. Very few colored men apply for release. When drawn they go or else bring substitutes, and few of them do this.

Impotency, Fatuity, Epileptic Fits,

IN ONE OF WHICH THE PATIENT MAY EXPIRE.

Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those direful diseases,

"INSANITY AND CONSUMPTION."

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, BUT NONE WILL CONFESS.

THE RECORDS OF THE INSANE ASYLUMS

And the melancholy deaths by Consumption bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion.

THE CONSTITUTION, once affected by Organic Weakness,

Requires the Aid of Medicine, to strengthen and invigorate the system, which

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

invariably does.

A Trial will Convince the most Skeptical.

FEMALES! FEMALES!! FEMALES!!

OLD OR YOUNG,

Single, Married or contemplating Marriage

IN MANY AFFECTIONS PECULIAR TO FEMALES the Extract of Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous state of the Uterus, Leucorrhea or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the Sex, whether arising from Indiscretion, Habits of Dissipation, or in the DECLINE OR CHANGE OF LIFE!

(See symptoms above.)

No Family should be without it.

TAKE NO MORE BALSAM, MERCURY OR UNPLEASANT MEDICINE FOR UNPLEASANT AND DANGEROUS DISEASES.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU,

AND

HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

CURES SECRET DISEASES,

In all their Stages; At little Expense; Little or no Change in Diet, No Inconvenience,

AND NO EXPOSURE.

It causes a frequent desire and gives strength to Urinate, thereby Removing Obstructions, preventing and curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation so frequent in the class of Diseases, and expelling all Poisonous, diseased and worn out matter.

THOUSANDS UPON THOUSANDS

Who have been the victims of Quacks

and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found they were deceived, and that the "POISON" has, by the use of "Powerful Astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, and perhaps after marriage.

Use Helmbold's Extract Buchu

For all Affections and Diseases of the URINARY ORGANS, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating and

NO MATTER OF HOW LONG STANDING.

Diseases of these Organs require the aid of a Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

IS THE GREAT DIURETIC,

And it is certain to have the desired effect in Diseases for which it is recommended.

Evidence of the most Responsible and reliable character will accompany the medicines.
